(7) If the interim protection order involves children, the clerk of the court must send a copy to the Permanent Secretary of the Ministry responsible for child welfare and such copies as may be prescribed to any other prescribed persons, to consider such action as may be provided for in legislation relating to the care and protection of children.

(3) An interim protection order has the same legal effect as a final protection order and, once it has been served on the respondent, it is enforceable under section 17.

Confirmation where respondent fails to oppose

10. If the respondent does not give notice of an intention to oppose the confirmation of the protection order on or before the return date contemplated in section 8, and the court is satisfied that proper service has been effected on the respondent, the court must confirm the interim protection order without holding the enquiry contemplated in section 12.

Effect of notice to oppose

(b) where the court is satisfied having regard to the material before it, that it is appropriate to do so, postpone the matter and, if necessary, order that the respondent be summoned to appear in court on the date on which the matter has been postponed to.

(14) If at the time fixed for the enquiry, the respondent appears in court, but neither the applicant nor the complainant, as the case maybe, appears either in person or through the representative contemplated in subsection (7), the court may -

(b) after having received a reasonable excuse for such non-appearance, postpone the enquiry on reasonable terms; or

(c) if it is satisfied, having regard to the material before it, that it is appropriate for evidence to be given by affidavit, the court may, on the application of any other party, order the attendance for cross-examination of the person who made such affidavit.

(15) Unless an application has been dismissed as contemplated in subsection

(14)(a), if the applicant fails to appear, either in person or, if applicable, through the representative contemplated in subsection (7), the court must direct the station commander of the police station named in the application to enquire into the reasons for such nonappearance, to ensure that no intimidation of the applicant has taken place, to provide appropriate police protection in the event of any intimidation, and to ascertain whether the applicant still wishes to proceed with the application.

(3) The clerk of the court must send a copy of the final protection order to the station commander of the police station named in the application and that station commander has the duty to put all police personnel at that station on notice that the complainant and any other person protected by the order in question are at particular risk.
